Section C: Comprehension - MCQ (5 x 2 marks)

Read the passage carefully. Choose the best answer and shade the correct oval (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the OAS.

A woodcutter went out one morning to cut some firewood. He looked around for his favourite axe and discovered to his alarm that it was missing. He anxiously searched around the wood pile, behind his house and in his shed but could not find it anywhere.

The woodcutter became more worried the longer he spent trying to find his tool. Then, out of the corner of his eye, he noticed his neighbour's son standing near the woodshed looking at him. The woodcutter stared at the boy and thought, "Look at him sneaking around the shed, with his greedy hands stuffed into his pockets. What a guilty look on his face! I think he must have stolen my axe!"

The next day, the woodcutter found his axe beside a pile of firewood. "I remember now!" he exclaimed. "I left it there when I was splitting wood!"

The next time he saw his neighbour's son, the woodcutter looked at the boy. "How odd," he thought. "Somehow, between yesterday and today, that boy has lost his guilty look."

21) The woodcutter did not search _____ for his favourite axe.

- (1) the shed
- (2) the wood pile
- (3) behind his house
- (4) the neighbour's house

22) The woodcutter became more _____ when he could not find his axe.

- (1) guilty
- (2) excited
- (3) anxious
- (4) pleased

23) The woodcutter suspected his neighbour's son because the boy _____.

- (1) had greedy hands
- (2) had a mischievous look
- (3) stood near the woodshed
- (4) had his hands in his pockets

24) From the story, we can tell that the woodcutter was a _____ man.

- (1) guilty
- (2) fierce
- (3) careless
- (4) dishonest

25) Why did the woodcutter think differently of his neighbour's son in the end?

- (1) The boy did not steal his axe.
- (2) The boy had lost his guilty look.
- (3) The woodcutter thought the boy had stolen his axe.
- (4) The woodcutter looked at the boy on two different days.

Section F: Comprehension – Open-ended (5 x 2 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the following questions in complete sentences.

The seahorse is a fish. Unlike most fish whose skeleton is inside their body, the seahorse has its skeleton on the outside. This acts like a bony suit of armour, protecting the seahorse from its enemies.

It has a head like a horse and a long, thin snout. On its head are two bulging eyes which can move and see in different directions from each other. No wonder they can get away from their enemies so quickly.

The most unusual thing about the seahorse is that the male carries the babies in a pouch, not the female!

The female places about 200 eggs inside the pouch which is on the male's stomach. The mother swims away, leaving the father to do the rest of the work.

After four to five weeks, the father breaks open the pouch before the babies can be born. One by one, they shoot out through the mouth of the pouch. They eat tiny sea creatures and grow very rapidly. They can be eaten by other fish. Therefore, not many babies can survive.

46) What is special about the seahorse's skeleton?

47) Why does the seahorse have eyes which can move and see in different directions from each other?

48) What does the male seahorse use the pouch on its stomach for?

49) What does the male seahorse have to do for the babies to be born?

50) Which sentence tells you only a few seahorse babies become adult seahorses?
