Hen took her young chicks out to look for food. They looked for white ants, pecked at worms and picked up grains of rice or corn. However, in the evening, dark clouds were seen gathering.

At the mountains, the rain was already pouring down, so Hen took all her chicks and headed for home. They arrived at a stream but an overflow of water had come down from the mountains and the stream had grown into a wide river.

Hen could fly across easily but the wings of the chicks were not strong enough to fly yet. It was impossible to get across it. Hen contemplated. She suggested, "There's a friend called Mrs Cat who lives in a hut nearby. It's best we spend the night with her."

Mrs Cat welcomed them warmly. Hen slept on the verandah with her chicks sheltered under her wings. Mrs Cat said, "It's a pity to sleep here where it's damp and windy. You'll catch a cold."

Hen distrusted her friend. She replied politely, "Don't worry. They're sound asleep. Besides, they would dirty your bed." Inside the house, a kitten stirred and asked who the guests were. Mrs Cat whispered, "They are Hen and her chicks. We shall steal her plump chicks to eat when they're asleep!"

Hen heard it and immediately piled up some stones where they had been sleeping before she left with her chicks. Shortly after, Mrs Cat crept out and pounced on "them"! She attacked them with all her might, only to realise that she had been outwitted!

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

5 A man was driving along a road when he saw an old lady stranded on the side of the road. He stopped his dented and dirty truck next to her luxurious car. He smiled while approaching her. The old lady was worried as nobody had stopped for hours. Moreover, he looked so poor and shabby. The man could see how frightened she was, so he tried to calm her, "I'm here to help you, don't worry. My name is Bryan Anderson".

10 The tyre was flat. He changed the tyre skillfully. When the job was done, she offered to pay him. Bryan smiled and said, "If you really want to pay me back, the next time you see someone who needs help, give that person the needed assistance."

The next evening, the old lady stopped by a small cafe. That place looked dingy but busy. The only waitress there was heavily pregnant. She had a sweet friendly smile although she had stood on her feet the whole day. The old lady was impressed. Then she remembered Bryan.

15 The old lady finished her meal and paid with a hundred dollar note. The waitress went to get change and when she came back, the old lady was gone. She had left a note on the napkin, "You don't owe me anything. Somebody once helped me, just like now I'm helping you. If you really want to pay me back, do not let this chain of love end with you." The waitress found four more one hundred dollar notes under the napkin.

20 The waitress wondered how the old lady could know how much she and her husband needed it, especially when the baby would soon arrive. That night, when her husband reached home, she exclaimed, "I've good news for you, Bryan Anderson!"

Answer these questions. Write your answers in complete sentences.
