Section H: Comprehension (Selected Response) (8 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Long ago, there lived a kind-hearted king who always had his people's interest at heart. He was loved by all his people. However, he put on a lot of weight over the years and could not move his body. His health was also affected. His people started to worry about him when they did not see him at public speeches.

The king spent enormous amounts of money on visiting doctors from all over the country but it was in vain because all the doctors were unsuccessful in treating him. He could not find anyone who could help him lose weight.

One fine morning, a wise man visited the country. He heard about the ill-health of the king, and sent his assistant to inform the palace minister that only he could easily cure the king. Hearing the promising words from the palace minister, the king was over the moon. He then requested to meet the wise man the next day.

10

The assistant mentioned that the king would have to see the wise man at the top of the mountain in order to be cured. He also had to go to him on foot.

15

The king was unable to walk even a few steps on his own, so he had to be helped by his followers. He reached the top of the mountain after only one day but he found out that the wise man was not around to treat him. The wise man's assistant suggested that the king meet him again the next day for treatment.

20

This was repeated for a week but the king never met the wise man, and never received any treatment. Soon, the king realised why the wise man asked him to go on foot. He felt a lot lighter, lost a considerable amount of weight and felt more active than before.

25

The king regained his health, and the people in his country were happy for him.

Section I: Comprehension: Open-Ended (8 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer questions 43 to 48.

Mr Brown was just about to put his key into the keyhole when he noticed that the front door was slightly ajar. He knew what had happened at once. Immediately, he pushed the front door open. At that moment, he heard a scream coming from the inside of his house. Chairs were overturned, lamps were lying on the floor and papers were strewn everywhere. He took stealthy steps up to the bedroom. He saw his wife clutching the jewellery box nervously. As the burglar advanced towards Mrs Brown, he shouted angrily at her to hand over the box. He was waving a knife threateningly at her.	5
Even though Mr Brown was a frail, elderly man, he grabbed the golf club near the front door and sneaked up behind the burglar. Mustering his strength, he hit the burglar as hard as he could. The burglar cried in pain as he fell heavily on the floor. He was unconscious for a while.	10
Immediately, Mr Brown called the police who arrived in a few minutes. One policeman handcuffed the burglar while the other pulled off his ski mask. The policemen recognised the burglar as he was one of the criminals on their wanted list. Before being accompanied out of the house by the police, the burglar glared at Mr Brown and shouted, "You were not supposed to be at home at this time!"	15

Before the other policeman left the house, he praised Mr Brown for his bravery and thanked him for assisting the police to nab the burglar who only preyed on the elderly.	20
Mrs Brown reflected on what had happened and uttered, "I must remember to keep my valuables in the bank and lock the doors in future." Mr Brown gave her a thumbs-up.	25

For Q43 & 44, write your answers in complete sentences.

- 43 What made Mr Brown first sense that someone had broken into his house? [1m]
