Section F: Comprehension MCQ (5 x 1m = 5m)

Read the passage and answer questions 29 to 33.

Moydian strode ahead, cutting a path through the dense undergrowth with his axe. Jason followed behind with a large sack and a rope. Soon they came to a steep slope; they were panting by the time they clambered to the top of it. Then they had to force their way between the stems of bamboo. The wind blew fragments of dry leaves on them.

It was hot and humid and their T-shirts were drenched with perspiration. Moydian had prudently tied a small towel round his neck and he used it to wipe his greasy face from time to time. "I saw it near here," he said when he finally stopped in front of a tall tree. Someone had drawn a crude picture of a python on the trunk using a very thick waterproof marker. "Let's look around," Moydian added before Jason could comment on his partner's lack of artistic talent.

10

Jason looked up and saw a maze of creepers entangling the branches of the trees. He wondered if he would be able to spot the snake among the varying shades of green and brown in the dappled light. Suddenly, he heard Moydian calling excitedly, and sprinted to him. Following the direction of his finger, Jason saw a huge snake draped around one of the boughs. Its triangular head was resting on one of its coils and it was making a soft, hissing sound.

15

Moydian climbed the tree adroitly and moved cautiously to the bough the python was resting on. Fortunately, the reptile was away from the trunk. He raised his axe and hacked furiously at the branch. The snake, annoyed by the disturbance, raised its head and flickered its long tongue in and out. Moydian redoubled his efforts and soon the branch fell to the ground, carrying the snake with it.

20

As the snake was about to slither away, Jason grabbed its tail and jerked it backwards. Then he threw the sack neatly over the snake's head. With great dexterity, he pounced on the sack and caught hold of the snake by the scruff of its neck. His left hand scratched its tail swiftly. The snake struggled violently, coiling itself into loops.

25

As Moydian hastened to render assistance, he suddenly recalled Jason's caution that when a python is being attacked, it usually passes out a large quantity of excreta. However, his recollection came a few seconds too late and he could not dodge the jet of awful-smelling fluid from the snake.

35

For each question from 29 to 33, four options are given. One of them is the correct answer. Make your choice (1,2,3 or 4). Shade the correct oval (1,2,3 or 4) on the optical answer sheet.

29. In line 9, the word 'someone' refers to _____.

- (1) Jason
- (2) Moydian
- (3) the person who caught the python
- (4) the person who told Moydian about the python

30. Based on the passage, which of the following is not true.

_____.

- (1) They came prepared to catch the python.
- (2) Jason was uncertain he could spot the python.
- (3) It was difficult to get to the tree where the python was.
- (4) Moydian was more experienced in catching pythons than Jason.

31. When Jason saw the python, it was _____.

- (1) on the ground
- (2) wound around a tree trunk
- (3) draped around a bamboo stem
- (4) resting on the branch of a tree

32. In line 24, the word 'disturbance' refers to _____.

- (1) the python raising its head
- (2) Jason grabbing the python's tail
- (3) Moydian hacking the branch with his axe
- (4) Moydian climbing up the tree with his axe

33. What did Moydian do after climbing down from the tree?

- (1) He went to help Jason.
- (2) He threw the sack over the snake's head.
- (3) He killed the snake by hacking it into half.
- (4) He warned Jason about the jet of awful-smelling fluid from the snake.

Many words we know have their beginnings in Greek or Roman mythology.

Think _____ the planets in our solar system. How many have the names of (34)
mythological gods? There are at least five _____ bear the names of early (35)
Roman gods. The day of the week "Saturday" was named for the Roman father of gods, Saturn.

There are four months of the year that were also named for Roman gods. Janus the Roman god of beginnings, has one month named for him. Mars, or Martius, _____ the Romans called him, has the third month named _____ his
(36) (37)
honour. Maia was Roman goddess of spring _____ growth. Her month is the (38)
beginning of spring. Juno was the favourite month of _____ brides.
(39)

The Roman gods have also influenced some of _____ common rituals. For (40)
example, do you know why we put candles on a birthday cake? This custom originated _____ of Artemis, the goddess of the moon. The Greeks celebrated (41)
_____ birthdays each year by bringing a cake to Artemis' temple. The cakes (42)
were round, resembling the moon. However, a cake gives no light, so the Greeks placed candles on the cake to make _____ glow like the moon! Do you know (43)
of any other words or traditions that were taken from Greek or Roman mythology?

Dear Mimmy,

(44)

I'm sick again. My throat hurt. I'm ~~s~~neezing and coughing. And spring is around the corner. The second spring of war. I know from the calendar, but I don't see it. I can't see it because I can't feel it. All I can see are the poor people still lugging water, and the even poorer casualties - young people without lims. They're (46)

(45)

the ones who had the fortune or perhaps the misfortune to servieve

(47)

There are no trees to blossom and no birds, because the war has distroied

(48)

them as well. There is no sound of birds twitter in springtime. There aren't even any pigeons - the synbel of Sarajevo. No noisy children, no games. Even the children no longer seems like children. They've had their childhood taken away from them, and (51)

(50)

without that they can't be children. It's as if Sarajevo is slowly dying, desapearing.

(52)

So how can I feel spring, when spring is something that awakes life, and there is no live, here everything seems to have died. I'm sad again, Mimmy. But you have to know that I'm getting sadder by the day. I'm sad whenever I think, and I have to think.

(53)

Section K: Comprehension (10 x 2m = 20m)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions 75 to 8384.

"How peaceful it is here," thought the boy who had travelled ten hours from his hometown in Osaka, the capital of Japan, to the famous temple. He stood outside the temple door as he watched the sun set in the distant horizon.

Smiling, he entered the temple. What pleased him very much when he entered the temple hall were some big white screens. "These are very good to draw cats on," he said. Even though he was very tired, he began to draw cats. He drew many cats all over the screens. Then he began to feel very sleepy. He was just about to lie down to sleep when he suddenly remembered what the priest had told him, "Stay away from large places at night. Stay in small places!"

The temple was very large. He was all alone. As he thought about these words, he felt disquieted. He decided to look for a small place in which to sleep. He found a little closet. He stepped into it and shut the door. Then he curled up and fell asleep. In the middle of the night, he was awakened by a horrible noise. It was the sound of fighting and screaming. The noise was so terrible that he would not open the door even just a bit to peek out. He stayed very still and waited. The light in the temple went out but the horrible sounds continued. They became louder and more frightening. The whole temple shook. Then, after a very long time, there was silence. Still, the boy was afraid to move. He did not move until the morning sun shone into the room and the light of the sun touched the closet.

Then very slowly and cautiously the boy got out of his hiding place and looked around. He saw that the floor of the temple was covered with blood. In the middle of the floor, he saw something lying dead. It was a huge rat – a goblin rat! It was bigger than a cow! But who or what could have killed the rat? There was no person or creature in the room.

The boy continued to look around. Then he saw the drawings of cats which he had painted the night before. He saw that their mouths were red and wet with blood. Then he realised that the goblin rat had been killed by the cats that he had drawn. The boy understood, for the first time, the power of his drawings and what the priest had said to him.

Today, the boy's paintings can be seen in famous museums all over the world.

35

Adapted from Learning English through Literature by Burton Goodman

ALL ANSWERS MUST BE IN COMPLETE SENTENCES.

75. Was the temple far from the boy's hometown? How do you know?

76. What was the boy's nationality?

77. What time of the day was it when the boy entered the temple?

78. What does the word 'These' in line 6 refer to?

79. Which word in paragraph 3 shows that the boy was worried?

19

80. Why did the boy finally choose to sleep in the closet?

81. According to the passage explain clearly what could have caused the 'horrible noise' (line 16)?

82. When did the boy finally get out of his hiding place?

83. According to the passage, how do you think the goblin rat died? Give a reason to support your answer.

84. According to the passage, what do you think was the boy's occupation?
